ATTITUDE POLICY

Foreign Diplomats Informed of Latest Move by This Government

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—Developments in the Mexican situation here emphasized the determination of Washington government to refuse to recognize any of the acts of the new Mexican government. It also was shown President Wilson was considering question of permitting exportation of arms to all factions in the southern states.

Secretary Bryan had a long conference with Senator Algers, charge d'affaires of the Mexican embassy. It is reported Mr. Bryan said the United States considered the election of Congress equally invalid as the vote for president and vice president.

Secretary Bryan summoned the ministers from five Central American countries and outlined to them in general terms the diplomatic policy with the new Mexican government. Later, he announced that he also had been in communication with the diplomatic representatives of the European powers and informed them in general terms of steps taken by the United States.

CORN CROP MOST

VALUABLE EVER
GROWN IN U. S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—This year's corn crop promises to be the most valuable this or any other nation ever has produced, although the department of agriculture's preliminary estimate of production, issued today, indicates it will be more than half a billion bushels less in size than the record crop of last year, and the smallest since 1903. Based on the department's figures of 70.7 cents per bushel, the average farm value on November 1, the crop as now estimated is worth $1,741,353,019, while the value of the 1912 record was $1,520,454,600. The previous most valuable crop was that of 1909, when it was worth $1,452,822,990.

BOAT'S CREW

A constant sound of danger driven by a wind which reached a velocity of nearly 75 miles an hour Sunday night, the snow fell to a depth of from five inches to five feet in the drifts.

Many streetcar passengers narrowly escaped when poles fell on the cars or when windows were blown in. Twenty miles out from Cleveland, telephone poles remained upright, although they were heavily coated with ice. The heavy snow and sleet impeded railroad traffic in all directions for 30 miles. The storm arrived at 7 o'clock Sunday morning when a 20-mile wind brought the first snow flakes.

Train Snowbound

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 10.—The passenger train of the Washington & Annapolis railroad, a narrow gauge line, which has 100 passengers, including United States Senator Albert J. Cummins of Iowa, is stuck in a snowdrift three miles from this place. Senator Cummins had been visiting his father at Annapolis, Md. The train, bound for Washington, had been snowbound last night and a relief train was sent out. The engine of the relief train jumped the track within sight of the stranded train. The entire party was without food for over 24 hours. Farmers went to their fields and all were taken to their homes. Roads are impassable on account of drifts, and railroad officials say the train will not reach here before noon tomorrow. The passengers were forced to shovel snow this morning to keep from freezing. Six young men left the train and walked here today. They were exhausted when they arrived and are under the care of physicians.

KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLES DISAPPEAR

Chronic Sufferers Always Find Relief From Few Doses

If you are bothered with backache or the urination, have disagreeable, burning, stinging or urinary troubles, or contend with or suffer with any other of the many miseries that come from weak kidneys, here is a guaranteed remedy you can depend upon. It is a positive fact that Croxone promptly overcomes such disorders. It works right in cleans out the stopped up kidneys and makes them filter and sit out the poisonous waste matter from the blood. It neutralizes and dissolves the uric acid that lodges in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatism; soothes and heals the delicate linings of the bladder. More than a few doses of Croxone seldom required to relieve even the most obstinate, long standing cases. You will find Croxone entirely different from all other remedies. It is not that it is practically impossible to take it without results. An actual package costs but a trifle, and the physician is authorized to return the purest price if Croxone fails to give the desired results the very first day.

GEN. DIAZ URGES HUERTA TO RESIGN

Says Latter Cannot Afford to Incur Enmity of U. S. for Prestige

PARIS, Nov. 10.—Gen. Porfirio Diaz has advised Gen. Victoriano Huerta to resign from the presidency of Mexico. Two friends of General Diaz, each acting separately and by authorization of the ex-president, sent telegrams to General Huerta last week to this effect.

In outlining his attitude, General Diaz said that in the present situation of the Mexican people in relation to the United States, it was not a question of whether Huerta was the best man for the presidency, nor was it a question of patriotism. He counseled General Huerta to renounce any feelings of personal prestige or power, and thus save Mexico from a calamity.

General Diaz has met many Mexicans here, friends of Huerta, friends of Madero, and a number of his own followers, and has shown a deep interest in the situation. He has been urged to take an attitude for or against Huerta, but always he has refused. He declared that the authorized message through his friends only as an appeal to Huerta's judgment as to whether love of country did not require Huerta's renunciation of power, in view of the increasing pressure of the United States.

General Diaz said to his friends that he would have telegraphed to General Huerta himself, but he had thus far taken no direct steps in Mexican affairs since he left the country, and would prefer to convey his conviction through mutual friends.

The denial by a member of the Diaz household on Saturday that General Diaz had sent a telegram asking Huerta to resign was, therefore, technically correct, as he had not done so personally.

U. S. TO LIFT EMBARGO

purpose in view of the recent presidential elections. White house officials called attention to what seemed to them an inconsistency in the Huerta note, wherein it assumed as valid the election of congressmen voted on at the same time the vote was cast for president and vice president, which is to be declared by Huerta and not by congress.

The purpose of the United States neither to recognize Huerta's right to continue in power, nor the acts of the new congress, is the essence of what has been communicated to the foreign diplomats by this government.

Future steps have not been specifically outlined. In fact, it is understood that, while the policy of the government has been to keep foreign nations continuously informed, there has been no direct effort to seek the support of the powers to the American program. There is no secret, however, of the desire of the United States for the quick decision of the powers in its policy. Refusal to recognize the acts of the new congress, which can grant concessions or ratify loan agreements, would be calculated, American officials say, to further weaken the resources of the Huerta government.

Future Steps Uncertain

The trip to the Arizona border of William Hayward Hale, on previous occasion a personal representative of President Wilson in Mexico, and the question of raising the question of raising the embargo has excited considerable interest.

Secretary Bryan when questioned about Mr. Hale's status, said merely: "Mr. Hale is at Tucson, Ariz."

He was unwilling to be pressed further. Mr. Hale, for several months, has been studying the Mexican question, and his visit to the border is thought to be one of the official ways by which the Washington government hopes to get information about the strength and purposes of the Constitutional movement and, perhaps, the efficiency of raising the embargo on arms.

Mr. Bryan denied incidentally that any negotiations were being conducted with the Constitutionalists by the United States government.

The question of exporting arms to Mexico has raised the question of official circles of whether the president, by executive authority, could let down the embargo, or whether action by congress would be necessary. The joint resolution of March 14, 1912, prohibited exportation of arms and munitions of war to countries in Central and South America, where domestic violence exists, with such exceptions as he deems expedient. These exceptions hitherto have been only to a legally constituted government, President Taft making the exception in favor of the Madero administration at the time of the Orozco rebellion.

It is now agreed by some senatorial leaders that to permit exportation to any one nation would be a recognition of the legality of that side, while free exportation to both sides would be tantamount to the existence of a state of domestic violence and would be a violation of the act.

The president told congress today that he had no intention of saving anything to congress on the Mexican situation, and that he was waiting for things to take definite shape as a result of last week's diplomatic parleys before making any move.

Those who have discussed the arms question with the president in the last few days say he seems to be open-minded on that point while a month ago he was firmly set against it. He is asking the advice of senators on that question, and some of them gained the impression that he inclines somewhat toward the removal of the embargo, though there is no outward indication that he has reached a final decision.

Secretary Daniels said tonight that the president had told him there were not likely to be developments in the Mexican situation that would interfere

PAPE'S! BREAKS A COLD AT ONCE

Don't stay stuffed-up! End grippe misery with Pape's Cold Compound

Relief comes instantly. A dose taken every two hours until three doses are taken will end grippe misery and break up the severe cold either in the head, chest, body or limbs.

It promptly opens clogged-up nostrils and air passages in the head, stops nasty discharge or nose running, relieves sick headache, dizziness, feverishness, sore throat, sneezing, soreness and stiffness.

Don't stay stuffed-up! Quit blowing and snuffling! Ease your throbbing head! Nothing else in the world gives such prompt relief as "Pape's Cold Compound," which costs only 25 cents at any drug store. It acts without assistance, tastes nice, causes no inconvenience. Be sure you get the genuine.

with the secretary's proposed trip to the middle west next week.

NOGALES, ARIZ., Nov. 10.—So far nothing is concerned with the sure about recognition by the United States, said Gen. Venustiano Carranza tonight.

"We will wait eventually anyway," explained the leader of the Constitutionalists' revolution. But with permission to cross ammunition over the border from the United States we will win in two or three months.

"Without this permission, it may require six months, or a year or more. The railroads will remain cut; business will continue to be hampered; American interests in Mexico and international commerce will suffer."

General Carranza said that ammunition alone was needed to bring about peace in Mexico.

"We will take the rifles and artillery away from the federals, as we have been doing," he said.

Gunboat Rushed to Tuxpan

VERA CRUZ, Nov. 10.—The United States gunboat Wheeler made a hurried departure from Vera Cruz today. She is proceeding to Tuxpan, 145 miles northwest of Vera Cruz, in response to an urgent telegram from the American consular agent, Arthur C. Payne, who advised Rear Admiral Fletcher that 400 rebels were about to attack the town, and that a warship was needed to protect foreign property. Tuxpan has only a small garrison.

From other sources it is reported that the rebel strength is 3,000, and that it is intended, after taking Tuxpan, to march against Tampico, which is also poorly garrisoned.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—Reports of a battle between Mexican federal troops and Constitutionalists seven miles out of Mazatlan 10 days ago, in which the Huerta troops lost 400 killed and 120 wounded, and left two pieces of artillery on the field, were brought to this city today by refugees on board the Huasteca City of Vera.

According to their story, 1,000 federal soldiers left from the city to attack the Constitutionalists who were menacing the waterworks that supplies the town, but were repulsed after a sharp fight.

The Constitutionalists shut off the water for a few days, but allowed the town its usual supply after that. The city is under martial law, but Americans aboard the steamer said conditions were quiet when they left.

Among those who came from Mazatlan were Dr. Felipe de Lara and his wife and son. Dr. de Lara, who was a member of the municipal council of Mexico City under Madero, says he fled after he had learned his name was on a proscription list in the hands of the chief of police of the Mexican capital. He intends leaving at once to join the Carranzistas in northern Mexico.

It is Dr. de Lara's belief that Huerta cannot hold on much longer and that if things are allowed to take their own course Mexico soon will be in a state of peace again. But he says American intervention would serve to unite the whole nation instantly against a common enemy.

BEILISS ACQUITTED OF RITUAL MURDER

Jury Returns Verdict After Deliberating Only Two Hours on Evidence

KIEV, Russia, Nov. 10.—Beiliss is not guilty, but the murder was committed in the Zaitseff works. This was the verdict returned shortly after 6 o'clock tonight by the jury in the Mendel Beiliss trial, after two hours' deliberation.

When Beiliss was taken out of the prisoners' room of the court for the last time and brought along the dingy corridor it was seen that his guard had been increased to five soldiers. The jury then filed in and the foreman read the verdict.

Beiliss seemed to be in a state of coma, striving to collect his wits. When he realized the meaning of the verdict he fell back into his seat sobbing convulsively.

An uneasy feeling prevails, for it is not known what capital the Black Hundred will make out of the jury's finding that the murder was committed in the Zaitseff works. Thus far, however, there have been no disorders.

CHASE THREATENS

Chase. On his explanation that he did not understand conditions, Mr. Ralston was released.

Frank J. Hayes, international vice president of the United Mine Workers of America, addressed a mass meeting here tonight in which he denounced the operators and the press.

Francisco, Gonzales was arrested tonight at Augilar, the scene of the killing of Pedro Armijo last Saturday, and brought to the county jail as a military prisoner. Gonzales, according to Major Goodwin, who brought him to Trinidad, made statements that led the military authorities to believe that he is one of the ringleaders in the killing. He will be questioned by General Chase tomorrow. No preliminary hearing will be accorded him.

The cavalry are patrolling the streets here tonight and at the least outbreak. General Chase states he will declare martial law in the business district.

Five Confess Killing

WALSHEBURG, Nov. 10.—Daniel Richards and his brothers, Edward and Charles, and Frank Kruppa and John Dugan confessed tonight to having been members of the party which fired from an automobile load of mine guards near La Veta Saturday, killing four occupants of the car. In their confession, which was made to Major Townsend here, the men, each of whom was questioned separately, are said to have told the same story, and to have implicated Charles Shepherd in the murderous assault. All the men are strikers, and those who confessed are five of eight who were arrested by military authorities soon after the fatal ambush.

According to Major Townsend, Charles Richards is the only striker who attempts to place the blame for the violence upon the mine guards. He declared that the guards stopped their machine at the brow of a hill near the spot of ambush and began firing into the group of strikers. This, he said, is denied by the four other men. Their story as told by Major Townsend follows:

Tell Story of Ambuscade

When William Gambley, a nonunion miner who had been having trouble with strikers, telephoned to the Oakland mine at Oak View for aid, the three Richards brothers, Kruppa, Dugan and other strikers secured their guns which had been concealed from the troops. They went to the embankment of the Loughhead reservoir to lie in wait for the automobile load of guards as it passed on its trip to La Veta. But because Ed and Dan Richards had not traveled as fast as the other strikers, they determined to await their arrival and not fire on the oncoming guard, and return fire.

The guards, says the strikers, walked into the trap unsuspectingly. Dan Richards, they say, fired the first shot, which struck the radiator. The chauffeur did not stop after the first shot but sat at his wheel dead. Three guards left the machine and attempted to fight back, but according to the strikers' story, the battle was too hot for them and they were dropped before they could get into fighting position.

Held as Military Prisoners

When all the members of the party had been killed or wounded, the strikers declared that they returned to Charles Richards' house where they hid their guns and collected a story to tell the troops when they knew would arrive.

The strikers are yet under charge of the local authorities, with the military officers diligently prosecuting case against them and ready to hold them in custody should the progress of civil life appear too slow.

La Veta is in a state of unrest to which the populace has become accustomed. The question of unionism and labor has been said to exist throughout the town. Two companies of the state army are now encamped there.

THREE KILLED W/IN FREIGHT TRAINS CRASH

SAINT LOUIS, Nov. 10.—Three men were killed and at least one person injured when two freight trains crashed together on the Grand Trunk railroad near Wentz, Ont. The accident occurred in a blinding snow storm.

The dead were William Moffatt, conductor; George A. Holleran, brakeman; and a man of the name of Stapperton.

TRAINMEN GET

provide chiefly that the monthly pay of employees in the passenger branch of the service shall be:

Schedule of Wages

Conductors $135; baggage men $82.50; flagmen and rear brakemen $78; brakemen $76.50; overtime per hour—conductors 45 cents; assistant conductors and ticket collectors 35 cents; baggage men 25 cents; flagmen and rear brakemen 25 cents; brakemen 25 cents.

For the freight service, the chief awards are:

Through runs, conductors 4 cents a mile; flagmen 2.67 cents a mile; brakemen 2.57 cents a mile; and car less than 100 miles to be paid for as if it were 100 miles. In way freight, pickup or drop, and roundabout service, same minimum; conductors are awarded $3.50 a day of 100 miles or less, 10 hours or less; flagmen $3.10 and brakemen $2.90; overtime to be paid for as time and one-half.

This was one of few instances in which the employees triumphed in their demand that overtime be paid for at one and one-half the regular rate. The award is distinctly against such practice in most instances. To this finding the employees' representative filed a minority report of protest. To the entire finding the railroad's representatives dissented.

Railroads Dissent

"We dissent from this award," reads the report, "because standardization is chimerical and uneconomic; because such increased cost of living as has occurred is not sufficient to justify the increase; because—statistics prove that risk has decreased and hours of labor have decreased and the weight of evidence is that labor has not increased."

Of vital importance to the employees, is the finding that present schedules of pay are not to be changed or disturbed in any way where they exceed the amounts named. Nor are employees to be entitled either in tollage or hours of labor to offset the increases granted.

The railroads' contention that there are between two horns of a dilemma from which there is no apparent escape—that they must either raise rates or cause rising wages—is dismissed by the arbitrators, with this assertion: "This board believes it must make its findings without any reference to the dilemma in which the railroads are evidently placed. The interstate commerce commission, and not this arbitration board, has the duty of determining whether the railroads can easily in addition to their other charges, without an increase in rates, the rates of pay that this board believes at the present time to be due to the conductors and trainmen."

Hazard Is Decreased

However, the board calls the attention of the interstate commerce commission to the decrease of hazard that follows the installation of steel cars, double tracking and improved signals. On this point the award says: "All of these things cost in the aggregate an immense sum of money.

Any policy that would make it impossible for the railroads to command this money would be a profound misfortune to the whole nation. Such a policy would be bad enough in its effect upon transportation, because it would reduce the efficiency of the railroads; but it would be criminal, in the sense that it would make the great army of railway employees, who are numbered by hundreds of thousands, follow their hazardous occupation under conditions more hazardous than are necessary and, indeed, more hazardous than are justifiable in a country like this.

"The increasing safety of passengers is equally involved. No American reads the records of railroad accidents in the United States without feeling a sense of reproach. This board wishes to call the attention of the country to its belief that railroad accidents can be reduced almost precisely in proportion to the modernizing of the railroads and the improvement in their equipment."

The board of arbitration consisted of W. W. Atterbury, vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, and A. H. Smith, senior vice president of the New York Central, for the railroads; Julius E. Sheppard, senior vice president of the Order of Railway Conductors, and Daniel L. Cleave of Cleveland, O., editor of the Railway Trainman, for the men; and Seth Low, former mayor of New York, and president of the National Civic Federation, and Dr. John H. Finley, New York, state commissioner of education, as neutrals.

The arbitrators met here September 11 and spent a month hearing witnesses. After October 11, the board had several protracted sessions in an effort to get together upon its report.

General Law Must Govern

This ordinance attempts to confer special privilege upon both houses, confectionery stores, bakeries, ice cream parlors, stores for the sale of cigars and chewing tobacco, salivary stables, garages, etc. But the ordinance does not stop here. It further provides that any person who observes the seventh day of the week may also be punished for the peace and good order of society and invites others to violate the law on the subject.

The Quickest, Simplest Cough Remedy

Easily and Cheaply Made at Home. Saves You $2.

This plan makes a pint of cough syrup—enough to last a family a long time. You couldn't buy as much or as good cough syrup for $2.50. Simply mix 1 lb. of give almost instant relief and usually conquers an ordinary cough in 24 hours. This is partly due to the fact that it is slightly laxative, stimulates the appetite and has a soothing effect. It is pleasant to take—children like it. An excellent remedy, too, for whooping cough, spasmodic croup and bronchial asthma.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with 1/2 pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 25 ounces of Pinex (fifty cents worth) in a pint bottle, and add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

Pinex is one of the oldest and best known remedial agents for the throat membranes. Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in quaiacal and other natural healing elements. Other preparations will not work in this combination.

The prompt results from this mixture have endeared it to thousands of sufferers in the United States and Canada, which explains why the plan has been imitated often, but never successfully. A genuine, absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex, or will get it for you. It is sold to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

whole truth, and of the usefulness of half truths, applies to a thousand matters of grave concern to us who live in great industrial modern communities. As an example, consider the case of combining idealism with actual good sense in realizing an ideal. It is absolutely essential to the welfare of a democracy that the average citizen shall possess the power of attachment to an ideal and that the leaders shall possess the power to lead. This is a truth; but it is only half the truth. It is no less essential that neither the leaders nor the people shall be mere visionaries, but that they shall possess hard-headed, practical good sense in working for tangible benefits. This is the other half of the same truth.

Real Qualitative Essential

The perfection of neither quality nor quantity is available to the nation unless the other exists. Yet well-meaning men often speak as if the two qualities were antagonistic. One man, while vaunting idealism, sneers at the practical man of affairs. In return the latter, with no less ignorance and shortsightedness, laughs at and scorns the idealist. Each of these two treats the half truth of which he has firm grasp, as hostile to the half truth upon which the other insists. As a matter of fact, each half truth taken by itself is useless and in the long run even mischievous. Only by combining them do we get the whole truth, the truth that can save and perpetuate a nation.

"Take another example of combining two half truths in order to reach a vitally necessary whole truth. There must be ever before our eyes the ideal of freedom, of liberty. This is a great and noble truth; but it is only half the truth. Unless we use common sense in realizing the ideal of freedom it will only lead to anarchy and the destruction of the state in soul and in body. This is the other half truth, taken together, we get the whole truth, and realize that the noblest of ideals is liberty based on order and justice.

nor rendered arrogant by excessive wealth. Normally, a man must earn enough to support himself and those dependent upon him in reasonable comfort before he can be of use to the community at large. In the same way, the community itself must possess a reasonable average of material well-being before it can take its part in advancing the great movements which make all that is worth having in our modern civilization. This means that the individual composing the community must on the average be reasonably well off.

A man whose wife and children are hungry cannot permanently be a leader in good citizenship. It is his primary duty to see that they are fed, clothed and housed and it is the primary duty of all of us to see that the conditions are such that if he has the right stuff in him he has the opportunity to feed, clothe and house those dependent upon him and give him a reasonable chance to enjoy the good things of the spirit no less than the good things of the body. These conditions, if they exist, cannot exist unless there is a general high level of business prosperity. Therefore, it is essential that these shall be material prosperity in the state, that railroads shall be built, that ranches and farms, business houses and factories, shall prosper. To fail at such prosperity is not evidence of a sound heart, it is merely evidence of an unsound head.

So much for unsound theory about material well-being. Now for unsound practice about such well-being. It is both foolish and wicked to treat it as that it should be disregarded. It is both foolish and wicked to treat it as the end of life instead of as a means to the end of life. Prosperity must exist, every effort should be made to increase it, but every effort should also be made to see that it is distributed with reasonable justice, and each of us should keep it always in proper mental perspective.

Material Prosperity

Material prosperity is an indispensable foundation for well-being, whether in the nation or the individual. But it is only the foundation. Unless upon it is built a different and higher superstructure, then the more it is heaped upon the more solid and unlovely the life, whether of the community or the individual becomes. It is essential for the individual that there should be a certain amount of material well-being, but after that point has been reached, other things become far more essential.

The honest and successful business man is a vital factor in the success of the community, and the community where he does not exist can never rise and will probably fall into utter decay. But where he is the only one open to success, where he is the only leader the community can never contribute anything of lasting consequence to world history, and this is a truth which it especially behooves my own countrymen to remember. The man of science, the man of letters, the man of art—these, and many other men like them, whose activities find expression in a hundred different directions, must stand beside the man of business, and their achievement must be as noteworthy in their lines, and the recognition they receive from the community as a whole must bear some proportion to their merits. Otherwise the community will never achieve any place of real permanence or usefulness in the movement of civilization.

Duty of the State

"This is today, of my countrymen, and of yours, my hearers, and of all other civilized countries, and it was true in ancient times, Carthage, Tyre, and Sidon passed and left barely a mark on the history of mankind, because they were nothing but business communities, because their leaders represented nothing but a wealthy materialistic oligarchy. Athens and Rome, on the contrary, left their stamp indelibly on all history, because on a basis of successful agriculture, of successful and varied industry—an indispensable basis for the work of both—they built the higher life, a life of manifold and infinitely varied intellectual activity and achievement."

Material Development

"We of today need an ample material development. We need to take advantage of all that the ablest captains of industry can do in business, the business of agriculture, of transportation, of commercialism, of manufacture—added by that branch of science which is applied to purely material objects. But we to us if we rest content with only this. We must honor and develop the leadership and activity of many men along a hundred other lines, not only or remunerative but of financially non-remunerative work. If we are to make the Twentieth century one of those centuries, which like the Thirteenth, the Sixteenth and the Nineteenth centuries of our era, and the Fifth and Fourth centuries of our era, add immeasurably to the progress of mankind."

"The general need of combining idealism and practical recognition of facts is taught in the study of all ages and of all peoples. In modern industrial states there is a peculiar and special need to apply the same principle in dealing with the collectivistic and individualistic theories of government. Instead of the word collectivistic, let me use the word socialistic, for I would not that the word frightens many good people who misunderstand it, and is misused by many other people, who advocate governmental philosophies, some of which at least are not only chimerical but would be wholly undesirable even if they were not chimerical. A Socialist may mean almost anything. The term is used as applied to themselves both by radical social reformers with most of whose doctrines men like myself are in hearty accord, and by sinister revolutionists who advocate policies which are not merely unworkable but are actually repulsive because of their sordid immorality."

Duty of the State

It is the business of the state to secure a measurable equality of opportunity so that each man shall have the chance to show the stuff there is in him. Each man should have what he earns and should not have what anyone else earns. There is wide inequality of capacity and character among men and therefore it is wise and just that there should be inequality in reward because the reward should bear some proportion to the service rendered.

We of the great democracies must make them industrial no less than political democracies. So far as may be we must make the tool user the tool maker. This can be done by a wide extension of the principle of cooperation; and the principle of cooperation can never be successful unless it includes the hearty and generous acknowledgment of leadership, and there can be no such recognition unless we provide that the special service which springs from special ability and character has a special reward.

"We are neither fanatics nor visionaries. We do not expect to go forward so fast that in any near future all that we ultimately hope for may be realized. Not on the other hand, do we belong among those timid and timid souls who fail to go forward at all because the upward path is beset with difficulties. We do not intend to pull down anyone at the same time we build up, and we do not intend to pull down all unless it is necessary. We believe that the growth of modern industry has necessitated a great increase to the exercise of governmental functions by the state."

Let Rich Help Poor

"As I have before said, we agree with the story of old that the best deal for a man is neither to suffer grinding poverty nor to possess excessive riches. Therefore we believe in laws, such as those providing for heavily graded incomes, and inheritance taxes, and we believe in using all safe means to secure the growth of the small farmer, the small landowner who tills his own soil."

"We do not intend to favor the vicious and the idle against the trustworthy, the forthright and the hard-working. We know that it is folly to try to make the fool the equal of the wise man. But we intend to control greed and cunning and brutality in high places just as we control greed and cunning and brutality in low places. From the men and women who work hard and earnestly with clean hands we intend to try to lift the burden of grinding fear which rests on those who have to dread an old age of undrained poverty and misery of the disease which now befalls the family of the wage worker who is killed or crippled in industry."

"We intend to provide for the mother whose husband is a breadwinner, has died and we intend to follow the man who deserts his wife and the mother of his children and we intend to support her and them by his labor under the direction of the state. We intend to protect the rights of children to their childhood, their right to wholesome education, and to a recreation and health high together with the proper kind of education will fit them to be men and women able to perform the

WATER MEYERS.
 The Editor of The Gazette:
 From time to time our mayor brings in the question of measuring all water used by installing in houses a water meter.
 There are three reasons why this should be well considered by all residents before it is too late.
 Our city owes its great beauty to its boun-derless lakes. These are possible because of an abundant supply of water. If meters were installed and gallon used paid for, owners of limited property would have to bill for tenants through carelessness. If the city would not use the water in an unnecessary quantity it is well to take

BALMY AUTUMN WEATHER ATTRACTS MANY VISITORS TO REGION FOR SHORT VISITS

Hotels Keeping Up "Trip" Bureaus and Are Planning Winter Advertising Campaign

Colorado Springs as a winter resort has been talked of much and advertised little, but, nevertheless, a substantial number of easterners—far easterners—are enjoying the unexcelled fall weather in this city and the Pikes Peak region, some remaining for only a few days, others for weeks.

Few business men, and still fewer residents of Colorado Springs realize the number of tourists, if they may be called by such name who are in the region at the present time. Unlike so many of the summer visitors, the fall travelers do not come to this city to visit the greatest possible number of scenic points in the smallest possible time. On the other hand, they are here for the practically unvaried climate, the scenic points are a secondary consideration, although the majority of the attractions are visited at some time during the visit.

The majority of the fall visitors here are monthly guests, who are going to California for the winter season, and who stop in Colorado Springs for several days, both to break the long journey to the coast and to enjoy this wonderful climate before plunging into the tropical climate of southern California. While many remain here two or more weeks, those who stay but a few days visiting several of the scenic points of the region are in the majority.

Tourist Trade Good

Those who are in the Pikes Peak region for visits of several weeks or a month, as a general rule, have rented small cottages or taken suites of rooms in the larger hotels. The short-time visitors invariably go to the hotels. In practically every hotel in the city, the tourist trade is much better this year than during any previous fall, and the managers of the majority of the hotels have commenced to consider the winter tourist as a probability, and are preparing for his stay.

Henry H. Hamilton, Jr., manager of the "trip" bureau at the Acadia hotel, probably has more of an opportunity to note the winter tourist, as he travels than any other person in Colorado Springs. In speaking of it yesterday, he said:

Business Is Good

"Winter trade," he said, "has been better this year than any other year. In fact, there is no such thing as a winter tourist. It is a year-round business."

A BAS TANGO! PIONEERS IN PRACTICE ON QUADRILLES

To Purchase Logs for Cabin in Park Will Put Tablet on Trail

November 28, the night before Thanksgiving, is the date set for the Pioneer ball, in the Temple theater, at a special meeting of the El Paso County Pioneer Association last night at the court house. The members of the association are now practicing the art of square dancing, no refrain implied, every Wednesday evening at the Alamo hotel, and invite anyone, and in the turns of that old-time entertainment to come in and instruct the dancers.

The purpose of the ball is to raise funds for the log cabin which the association intends to erect soon in Monument Valley park. The dance will be an elaborate affair. The theater will be decorated with flowers and mountain grasses and refreshments will be served. A small admission will be charged, and some 1,000 tickets will be placed on sale soon. Mrs. Anna Paulkner is chairman of the refreshment committee, and the decorations are in charge of Mrs. William Dixon.

To Buy Logs at Once

The building of the log cabin was discussed last night and the building committee instructed to purchase the logs at once. Mrs. William Dixon has offered the free use of the stone on her property for the foundation. The cabin committee is composed of the following: Frank A. Perkins, Dr. Anderson, Irving Howbert, M. A. Foster and Mrs. William Dixon.

THANKSGIVING OFFERING OF SCHOOLS ON NOV. 21

Board Will Keep Funds and Use Them to Help Poor Children in School

The annual Thanksgiving offering by the school children of the city schools will be taken on Friday, November 21, according to the decision reached by the principals of schools at a meeting yesterday. It was further decided that all money coming in by this means will be kept by the school board to help keep poor children in school. The board is often called upon to furnish shoes and other necessities for poor children, especially during the winter months. The food and clothing brought in by the children for the Thanksgiving offering will be turned over to the Associated Charities, as usual to be used in the Thanksgiving dinners distributed by that organization.

The money given last year by the children of the schools amounted to nearly $150, and the food they contributed to the Associated Charities furnished nearly 130 dinners for the poor of the city.

MINES AT CRIPPLE CREEK FACE SERIOUS SHORTAGE

Coal Strike Problem Crucial for Progress in District: "Can Last but Thirty Days"

The coal situation in the Cripple Creek district will be serious if the strike continues another 30 days, according to statements of leading mining men. It is said that in that time the coal shortage will have reached such a stage as to necessitate the closing down of several of the larger mines. At the present time the situation has been greatly improved owing to the fact that nothing but better coal can be secured in any quantity. As most of the mines are fitted with hard coal furnaces, the figure of 30 days gives very poor service. Already many of the mines in the Cripple Creek district are practically without a coal supply, and the larger power plants at Pueblo and Canon City are facing a coal famine which threatens to close them. Should this happen the mines of the Cripple Creek district and the smelters at Pueblo would be without power and business stopped. Even the most optimistic of the mining men admit that the present situation cannot be continued beyond the first of the year at the most, and all declare that the settlement of the coal strike is imperative.

In damp chilly weather there is a large demand for RAILROADS SNOW LINIMENT because many people who know by experience its great relieving power in rheumatic aches and pains, prepare to apply it at the first twinge. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by all druggists.

FARM SURVEY OF EL PASO COUNTY WILL BE TAKEN

County Agriculture Lauck to Get Figures on Labor Returns

Preparatory to a farm survey of El Paso county which he is going to carry on this fall and winter, County Agriculturalist W. H. Lauck spent the last week taking part in a survey of Boulder county. The work was carried on under the supervision of Professor Dixon of Washington, a member of the division of economics of the department of agriculture. More than 150 Boulder county farmers were investigated to determine their actual labor return and way of the prominent farm experts of the department. Agriculturalists of Colorado participated in the experiment. Mr. Lauck will start his survey of El Paso county within the next few days, his purpose being to instruct the farmers how to get larger income from the same investment.

The survey just finished was taken in Boulder county because it is the oldest farming district in the state. The purpose of the survey is to find out just what return the farmer is getting for his labor. It was found that the farms are getting all the way from $200 to $2,000 a year. One farm lost $51 a year, figuring on a basis of a fair rate of interest on the capital invested. The farms that were the most diversified, both in crops and live stock, made the best rate of income. In making the survey the party figured the receipts and expenditures of a farm and thus arrived at the income of the farm. Then they figured the amount of interest from the capital invested, using a minimum rate of interest. By deducting the interest amount from the actual income of the farm they arrived at the labor income of the farm. In taking the survey they considered the acreage, yields, whether farm was rented or owned, general expense capital invested in real estate, tools, machinery, feed, supplies, live stock and receipts from produce and live stock.

Those taking part in the survey last week were: C. J. Oviatt, state leader of Wyoming; A. E. Bowman, assistant state leader of Wyoming; D. W. Frear, state leader of Colorado; D. W. Working, district leader of Utah, Wyoming and Colorado; and the following county men: D. C. Bascom of Logan county, A. C. Cooley of the San Luis valley, B. V. Smith of Pueblo county and W. H. Lauck.

MEMORIAL SERVICES AT C. C. FOR TERRY

Funeral of Strike Murder Victim to Be Held This Morning

Memorial services for the late Luke Terry were held yesterday morning at Colorado college, where the young man was a student last year. Flags were at half mast and the entire student body expressed its grief at the tragic death that deprived the college of a youth of the sterling qualities of the victim of the shooting Saturday noon near Walsenburg.

LUKE TERRY Colorado Springs Boy Who Was Shot and Killed Near Oakville Last Saturday by Miners.

Expressions of sympathy and of the loss of the college in the death of young Terry were made by Deans E. S. Parsons and Florian Cajal, both of whom spoke tenderly of the character, loyalty to friends and college, and fidelity to his ideals of the dead youth. Dean Cajal said Colorado college, its faculty and its student body extend deepest sympathies to the parents of Luke Terry in their bereavement. Few students were more highly respected. Few were as manly, few were as popular. He was always loyal to friends and college. It is indeed sad that such a life should be so early and so unnecessarily ended.

Terry was 20 years old and was the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Terry of 17 North Thirteenth street. The body was brought to Colorado Springs yesterday by C. F. Hamlin of this city and the funeral will be held this morning at 9 o'clock from the residence, the Revs. C. R. Garver and R. P. Carr officiating. Interment will be in the family plot at Lakewood. The Kappa Sigma fraternity, of which Terry was a member, will attend in a body.

Noon Prayer Meetings at Princess Attract Large Number of Men

The first noon meeting for prayer was given yesterday at the Princess theater by the Y. M. C. A. and similar meetings will continue throughout the week. Sandwiches and coffee were served preceding the meeting and will be served at the remaining meetings. Many business men attended the meeting yesterday and an earnest prayer service was held. The meetings are to be a part of a world-wide program of prayer. The principal talk yesterday was given by Dr. J. H. Spencer.

The Rev. Merle Smith, pastor of the First Methodist church, will give the talk at the meeting this noon. Mr. Booth will sing. The speakers for the remaining days of the week are: Wednesday—Dr. Samuel Garvin, Thursday—Dr. Benajah Pratt, Friday—Dr. S. E. Brewster, Saturday—Dr. W. W. Ranney.

Comiskey, Sox Owner, to Be in Region Today

Charles Comiskey, veteran baseball magnate and owner of the Chicago White Sox, together with his family will spend several hours in Colorado Springs this morning enroute to San Francisco where he will join the Sox and Giants on their world tour. Comiskey and his family will arrive over the Rock Island at 7:15 o'clock this morning and after breakfast will visit several points of scenic beauty in the Pikes Peak region. They will leave at 10:30 for the west.

A tight feeling in the chest accompanied by a short dry cough, indicates an inflamed condition in the lungs. To relieve it buy the dollar size BALDWIN'S HOREHOUND STRIP; you get with each bottle a free HERRICK'S REMEDY FOR THE CHEST. ## YALE AND PRINCETON WILL BE BIG GAME NEXT SATURDAY

Many Championship Battles Scheduled;
Dartmouth Looks Good for Second East Honors

By TOM THORP.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Saturday next marks the first of the final championship football games of the season of 1913. The victors in the contests will be in direct line for the premier honors of the year. The teams that find themselves on the short side of the scores will be eliminated from further consideration relative to the major honors.

All of the contests scheduled to take place are sure to prove crucial tests and the victors will deserve all of the honors. The members of the Big Game have been able to enter the final battles with slates that give testimony of their superiority over their fellow footballists. All of the colleges that will meet in struggles Saturday are of championship caliber and have deserved the distinction of being placed as the principal leaders of the popular college sport.

The game tradition focuses eyes upon the annual battle between the mighty Bulldogs and the ferocious Tigers at Yale field. This struggle should prove to be one of the most interesting that has ever been fought between these two old-time rivals.

To date both teams have played that is generally termed "in and out" football. Consistency in team play has been sadly lacking in both machines. The kicking displayed by the respective two artists of each eleven has been highly mediocre. Points have lacked distinction as well as the necessary height to enable the ends to cover properly. The team that excels here is sure to return the winner of the contest. Judging from ability displayed to date, it is an even break.

In the backfield positions very little separates the members of the two squads. In fact, "Hobby" Baker, Princeton, and F. Trenckham, New Jersey college, has a representative corps. All players have about the same experience and have all shown more than average ability in their starts to date. Baker is the individual star, and should prove very troublesome to the Eli ends. His running back of all kinds. At Yale style he has no peer on the gridiron today.

No concern is felt in the New Haven camp because of lack of backfield material. Alworth, Knowles, Williams, Pimpelli, Cornell and Guernsey have all been tried and have not been found wanting. In fact, the ability of these men to play secondary defense is accountable to a great extent for the confidence that the student body place in their eleven to prove a stone wall defense.

Tigers Quarter Better.

At the quarterback position the Tigers are in "Steve" Baker and Emmons look to have the call on anything that the Blue team coaches can possibly end upon the field. The judgment shown by the two generals in the early games this season accounts to a large extent for the very creditable showing of their teammates. Picking the spots to hurl their plays at, as well as the necessary amount of variance to make a successful attack, have been two of the requirements where both of these men have excelled.

In Cornish, the New Haven coaches will start a man who lacks a little of that confidence so necessary for quick judgment at critical times. Cornish's ability to run with the ball himself will no doubt offset this slight disadvantage of judgment.

At the extremely positions, Yale in Avery and Carter, has a pair of ends that have shown real ability to follow the ball at all times, as well as to keep the opposing backs from "hooking" them. In open field tackling they will not be found wanting. In Hammond, Shea, Lamberth and Brown, the Orange and Black have a quartet that has not displayed any too much ability to keep the opposing backs from circling them. Although strong, husky and fast, the Tiger's regeneration of end material has lacked a little of that football instinct that made former Princeton end men famous. They do not follow the ball as well as they should.

In the rush line both colleges are equipped with the best material that they have had in quite some time. Princeton, as noted, has not been able to boast of such abundance of aggressive material in a great many years. They will be able to send against the Bulldogs a rush line that will average in weight 350 pounds.

Seminola, Phillips and Hall are a trio of tackles that any team would be glad to possess. They are quick, hard chargers, who go through. And the play and get their bodies in front of it as only first-class men can.

In Talbott and Warren they will be called upon to make their best efforts or their reputation will be short lived. This pair are veterans who know the game from A to Z, and fight from start to finish.

At the guards, Yale, in Captain Ketcham, Pendleton or Madden, look to have a shade on their opponents. Ketcham, on defense, is a whole team in himself. He should prove to be a very hard man for the Tigers to keep from getting into their backfield before the plays have fairly started.

Gile to Get Chance.

Longstreet, Gile, Swart and Heylinger will find their hands filled to capacity if they expect to make a creditable showing against the Eli chargers.

At the pivot position, Eddie Trenckham should prove a revelation. This man played at tackle last year, but the Tiger coaches are endeavoring to strengthen their center, have decided to start him at center. He is a well-developed fast man, who charges hard and fast. His ability to diagnose a play quickly is sure to play an important part in his team's defense. Caldwell, Mauney, the Eli pair, will in all probability share the game, and will find a worthy opponent in Trenckham.

"BRAD" STREET

The great plunging fullback of the Princeton variety eleven, whose line-ripping ability is expected to prove the undoing of more than one good defense.

Football, Saturday is not to be confined to the college towns, for New York is to be given a real treat in the shape of the game that is to be played at "Polo" Warner's Red Men and the big Green Mountain team from old Hunover.

This contest should prove one worth while, as both eleven excel in the open-style game as well as being both equipped with wonderful backfields.

Dartmouth After Title.

Dartmouth, because of their well-earned victory over Princeton, is to be taken into consideration for the premier honors of the season, so their contest against the "native sons" will be watched with an added amount of interest. If Warner's tribe should prove strong enough to vanquish the New Englanders, then Dartmouth's title to the championship will receive a decided setback.

In Welch, Guyon, Franklin and Caskey, the Indians are equipped with a backfield that comes closer to Harvard's sensational combination than any other set of backs in the country. Welch and Guyon are particular stars of the aggregation. Welch, for his generalship and open-field playing, and Guyon, for his defensive and line-plunging qualities.

The ends and rush line are of more than average ability, but the real strength of the Red Men rests in their backfield.

Dartmouth, on the other hand, is one of the best balanced eleven that has made an appearance on the gridiron in a number of years. Their backfield shines not only as a plunging organization, but one that is capable of playing a remarkable open-style game. Whittier, Cutney, Mardock, Snow, Ahe and Elverson are a combination hard to beat for all-around ability.

Captain Hogarth, Landon and Lafferty in the ends, as well as McAniff, Purditt, Boers and Dunbar and Cutler, in the rush line, are players that could prove their worth on any field.

Harvard Should Wallop Brown.

Harvard, in Brown, will not meet any too worthy an opponent. The wonderful machine that Houghton has perfected at Cambridge should not experience any trouble in making the score anything that the coaches wish.

Army in Villanova, as well as Cornell, in Lafayette, should be able to add to their prestige by substantial victories. The New York team, which is expected upon to show a little of that red fighting spirit that they have not been called upon to show to date. Nevertheless, the Middle should find themselves on the big side of the final score.

Penn. Wolverine Important.

Stanford, Pennsylvania, will travel to Afton, N. J., to give battle to Coach Harry P. Voss's charges. This game will be watched with a great amount of interest by the experts throughout the country. The red team, which is expected to show the best of the clash of

Woman Coaches Football Eleven in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, Nov. 10.—There is something absolutely new in woman football coaching. Mrs. Charles H. Stagg, part of Time Hill is acting as the assistant coach of the Cincinnati team. The Cincinnati team is a team of eleven players, all of whom are women. Mrs. Stagg is a former member of the team, and has been coaching them since they were first organized. She has been assisting ever since.

TANGO FOOTBALL IS LATEST AT CHICAGO

Tango football has arrived at the University of Chicago. The new pastime, as staged at maroon practice this season at Marshall field, combines the graceful evolutions of the modern ballroom with the fierce labors of the gridiron, and is destined to fit the Midway candidates for trying the light fantastic toe tiddleywink through the 1914 schedule.

Lively footwork is the basis of Coach Stagg's Argentine invention. As in the most recent developments of the art of dancing, the performers with the nimblest extremities and the limberest joints win the cake. Wind, nerve and daring are also required for the sport.

Coach Stagg did not patent the pastime with the polished floor in view, but the Maroon students, many of whom are proficient in the latest wrinkles of the scrupulous, seductive, fish walk and reverse dip, find with joy that it is well adapted to furthering their social advance. The director's order of jump, slide, pivot, block and charge are obeyed without a murmur.

AUSTRIA TO INVESTIGATE OUR ATHLETIC SYSTEM

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—An athletic envoy from Austria will arrive in New York tomorrow for an investigation of the athletic system of the United States such as was made recently by members of the German imperial commission. The visitor is Dr. Otto Herzhorn, president of the Austrian Olympic committee, who is acting as the representative of the Austrian government with the view, it is assumed, of adopting for Austria athletic methods employed in this country.

Prof. William M. Sloan, the dean of the American athletes on the Olympic committee, and James M. Sullivan, secretary of the Amateur Athletic union, have arranged to meet the Austrian visitor at the pier and to show him everything which the Metropolitan district has of interest along athletic lines.

TEXAS SOUTHWEST CHAMPS

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 10.—The University of Texas claimed the southwestern football championship for 1913 tonight, as a result of their 14-10-6 victory over the University of Oklahoma here today.

Another Record for Finn

Another Record for Finn

Hans Kolehmainen, the wonderful Finnish long distance runner, who has knocked a chip off another American record, Kolehmainen lined up with a field of the best long distance runners in the east at South Field, New York, on Sunday, at the start of a 10-mile run. The Finn ran away from the field, winning as he pleased, a half mile ahead of his nearest rival. His time was 51 minutes 52.5 seconds. The old mark was 52 minutes 34.5 seconds.

CHIEF MEYERS LAMS OUT HOMER AND GIANTS WIN

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Nov. 10.—A huge crowd saw the Chicago White Sox defeated, 4 to 3, here today by the New York Giants. The game abounded in brilliant plays. Scott, for the White Sox, struck out nine men. Tris Speaker made a homerun in the second inning. The Giants won in the last half of the ninth, when Chief Meyers sent the ball over the right field fence for a homerun.

Score:

Champion Ritchie Outpoints Cross in 10 Fast Rounds

Eastern Lightweight Has Advantage in Only One Stanza and One Is Even

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Wills Ritchie, lightweight champion of the world, defeated Coach Cross of this city in a ten-round bout which went the limit at Madison Square garden tonight.

The men reached in at 9 o'clock, both under the stipulated weight of 135 pounds. The ringside weights were announced as Ritchie 147½ and Cross 136½.

With the exception of the first round, which was even, and the eighth, in which Cross had a decided advantage, Ritchie had the honors.

In the second, after a mixup, Ritchie fell over Cross, who was in a stooping position. Though the fall was a heavy one, Ritchie did not seem to be much the worse for it. In the third round, Ritchie knocked Cross down twice, each time for the count of nine. The first fall was from a right smash on the jaw followed by a right half uppercut. After Cross had regained his feet, Ritchie rushed him across the ring and put him down again with another right, which was more of a shove than a blow. When Cross got up he caught Ritchie with a hard left hook on the jaw. It almost lifted the champion off his feet. Cross, rushing again, forced Ritchie to the ropes. It looked in this round as if Ritchie would win easily, but Cross was full of fight and his power of recuperation surprised the western boy as well as the spectators.

From the fourth round to the end of the seventh Cross received most of the punishment, but he kept Ritchie busy, and the fighting all through was hard and fast. Cross apparently did not mind the stiff jobs he was receiving, contenting himself with waiting to use his deadly right swing. A chance to do so never came.

The eighth round was where Cross showed to the best advantage. He landed left and rights to head and body and also the better of the infighting. He shook Ritchie from heels to head with a left hook to the jaw in this round.

Ritchie's showing was not quite up to the standard of former lightweight champion, who have been seen here. But Cross at all times is a puzzling fighter, no matter how good his opponent may be, and tonight he fought with desperation at all stages in endeavoring to win Ritchie's title, which the westerner had placed at stake in this match.

COBB SAYS HE IS NOT ANXIOUS TO BE TRADED

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 10.—Printed reports that Ty Cobb, center fielder of the Detroit American league baseball club, was anxious to be traded, caused Frank J. Navin, president of the Detroit team, to make public a statement today from the champion batsman, in which Cobb said he was anxious to play in Detroit as long as the management and public were willing to have him.

Cobb's letter also indicated there would be no dispute over the terms of his 1914 contract.
